

Tradition scoops Interdealer Broker of the Year prize at FOW International Awards

10 December 2014 - Tradition, one of the world's largest interdealer brokers in over-the-counter commodity and financial products, has won the coveted Interdealer Broker of the Year Award at the FOW International Awards in London.

The FOW International Awards honour the stars of the global derivatives industry and are judged on a panel basis. The ceremony took place on Tuesday 9 December 2014 at Grange City Hotel in London.

Daniel Marcus, Global Head of Strategy and Business Development commented: "We are delighted to receive the Interdealer Broker of the Year Award from FOW. As our client base grows and the markets we operate in continue to evolve, we've responded with a rapidly expanding product range developed in conjunction with the industry in order to meet their changing needs.

"By continuously innovating and listening to the global markets we are able to deliver future-proof solutions that anticipate the demands of the industry in a developing regulatory environment. This award validates our forward thinking strategy and demonstrates the success of our collaborative approach."
